My Friend Ellen Wrote

“The law of God, from its very nature, is unchangeable. It is a revelation of the will and the character of its Author” (The Great Controversy, p. 467).

We don't have to worry about knowing what God wants us to do. He has told us in His law, and He will never change His mind. His law shows us how much He loves us.

LESSON 19

I Can Read Text

“With all my heart I try to obey you, God. Don't let me break your commands. I have taken your words to heart so I would not sin against you.” —Psalm 119:10

My Story

Have you ever noticed how many signs there are beside the road? The other day, as my mom and I were driving to the grocery store, I took pictures with my cell phone of all the traffic signs I saw. Here are some of them. Can you read what they say?

"Why are there so many traffic signs?" I asked. "After all, only a foolish person would head down the street on the wrong side, drive really fast in a school zone, or go through a dangerous crossroads without stopping."

"Signs aren't just for foolish people," Mom said. "Sometimes normal, safe drivers make mistakes and aren't as careful as they should be. The highway department puts these signs up to remind everyone how to stay safe and arrive home all in one piece. The signs aren't just for people who break laws. They help law keepers know what to do so they can drive better and safer. That's exactly what God's laws do as well."

"God's laws?" I asked as I took a picture of another sign with two Rs. Do you know what they mean?

"Yes," Mom said. "God's laws—the Ten Commandments—help us to know wrong from right. They teach us how to live when the devil tries to confuse us with lies and false promises. Just think of God's Ten Commandments as signs along the road of life."

Now, whenever I watch traffic signs from the car, I smile. As a law keeper, I'm glad they're there, helping me stay safe until I get to heaven.

Look at this road sign. Write down three places where we might need to remember this sign as we're doing our best to obey God's laws:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Fun Facts

COLORFUL SIGNS

- The first STOP sign appeared in 1915 in Detroit, Michigan.*
- In the 1950s, the STOP sign colors were changed from yellow with black lettering to the now red and white version.

RED!

By 1954, signmakers were able to use durable fade-resistant red coatings for sign faces.

Make some road signs for life. In the LIBRARY you'll find words from God's law, the Ten Commandments, that He gave to the children of Israel from Mount Sinai. Read each commandment and then choose a sign below and write one commandment in it. There is one sign for each commandment. The first one is already written for you.
